

Spend a month in the mountains with

SEWP

Summer Environmental Writing Program

ENS 401 & ENG 401

June 23–July 12

Summer 2008

Application Deadline: May 1

<http://www.uky.edu/AS/English/courses/sewp/>

Erik Reece (Erik.Reece@uky.edu)

Leah Bayens (Leah.Bayens@uky.edu)

Education by Experience

Unlike formal classroom settings, SEWP leads students to experience vital ecological connections while crossing disciplinary boundaries, reconnecting the sciences and the humanities.

Students from all disciplines are encouraged to apply!

SEWP participants will:

- ◆ take part in a three-week pastoral retreat in eastern Kentucky's Robinson Forest.
- ◆ investigate diverse tracts of American wilderness.
- ◆ explore connections to land via various genres.
- ◆ engage in field experience pertinent to a range of writing options:
*—field notes—journaling—poetry—memoir—natural history—
polemics—oral history—historical research—journalism—*
- ◆ engage in interdisciplinary inquiry with experts from the UK community.

Past faculty participants include:

Conservation biology	John Cox, Ph.D. David Maehr, Ph.D
Botany	Rob Paratley
Wildlife biology	Jim Krupa, Ph.D.
Rural communication	Chike Anyaegbunam, Ph.D.
Agriculture products	Deborah Hill, Ph.D.
Creative Writing	Wendell Berry Gurney Norman James Baker Hall Bobby Ann Mason Erik Reece Randall Roorda, Ph.D.