

2011 SHEEP SHEARING SCHOOL

University of Kentucky

March 29, 2011

Sheep Unit, Animal Research Center, Versailles, KY

Sponsored by the Kentucky Sheep and Wool Producers Association in Cooperation with the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service

PURPOSE

The shearing school is designed for beginner or experienced shearers. Professional sheep shearers will teach the most current shearing methods. An important aspect of the school is learning about maintenance and care of shearing equipment.

SCHEDULE

Tuesday, March 29

8:30 a.m. - Registration

9:00 a.m. - Equipment Discussion

10:30 a.m. - Begin Shearing

12:00 p.m. - Lunch (provided from registration fee)

1:00 p.m. - Continue Shearing

YOUTH SCHOLARSHIP

This school is not designed for young children; participants must be at least senior 4-H (high school) or FFA members. The Kentucky Sheep and Wool Producers Association and the University of Kentucky do encourage participation by senior 4-H and FFA'ers and will pay the registration fee for the first 6 senior 4-H or FFA registrants.

INSTRUCTORS

Endre Fink, Manager of the UK Sheep Unit, will be the primary instructor. He will be assisted by Winston Deweese, former Manager of the UK Sheep Unit, Tracy Burden, Assistant Manager of the UK Sheep Unit, and Dr. Don Ely.

Tips for participants

1. Wear "old clothes"
2. Exercise a few weeks before coming to the school
3. Bring your own shears, if possible (not required)
- 4. Must not have been outside the U.S. in the last 7 days
