

Immature (fourth-stage) cyathostome
(species unknown)

Figure 35
Head
a. buccal capsule

Fourth-stage cyathostomes are difficult to identify because distinguishing characteristics, especially at the anterior end, have not been established for most species.