

Antigua, Guatemala

Guatemalan stews for lunch

Making a choice for lunch

Having lunch

Lamb stew with guacamole, tamale and Chayote root

Water squash or Chayote (Sechium edule) is a common food in Guatemala

The Hotel Los Bucaros had a very pleasant series of inside courtyards

Drinking Hibiscus punch (Rosa de Jamaica) enjoyed on the hotel balcony

We had an evening work before dinner - Cathedral of San Jose

The beer (cerveza)
of Guatamala is called Gallo - the Rooster

Antigua is a World Heritage site noted for its colorful Spanish Baroque-style buildings

Cobble stone streets

TIENDA
EL ROSARIO
LA CASA DE LAS TUNICAS
FUNDADA DESDE 1948

La Merced Church

La Merced
Church

La Merced
Church

Reading from a prayer book outside the Merced church

The Santa Catalina arch

Cathedral of
San Jose

Cathedral of
San Jose

Central Plaza

A colorful "chicken" bus

Church facade

One way street

SE VENDE
TORTILLAS
Y VERDURA

Driving to Macadamia nut farm

Macadamia
nut flowers

Macadamia
nut fruit

The fruit cover must be removed from the nut

Macadamia nuts drying

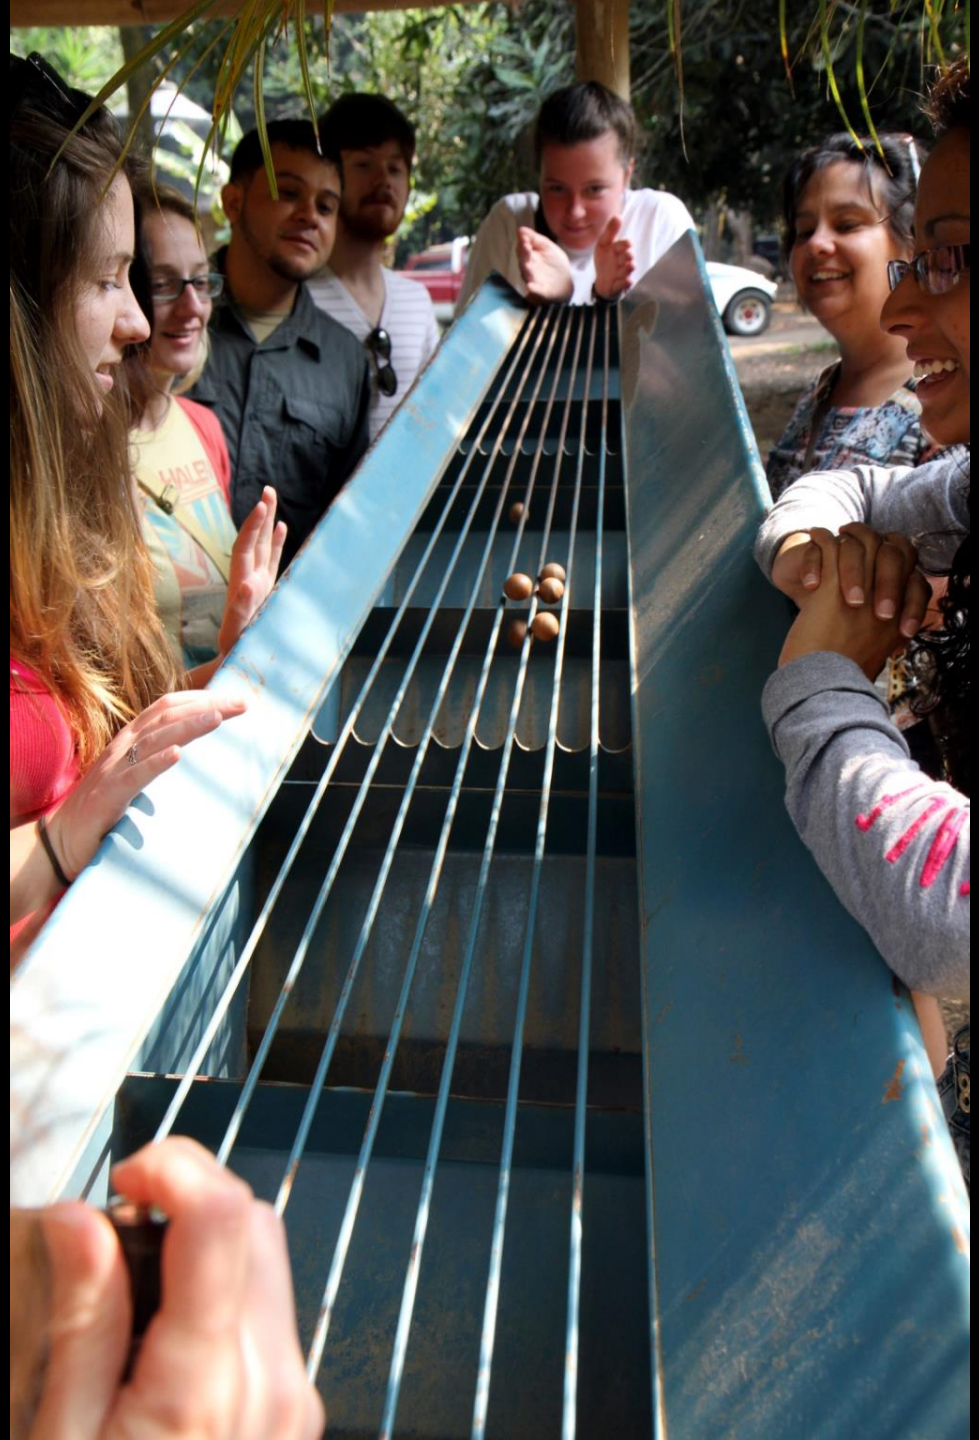

Macadamia nuts waiting to be sized

Sizing macadamia
nuts

Bars are not parallel and the larger nuts roll further down the slide

Sampling chocolate-covered Macadamia nuts

The world's most awesome out-house