

Greenwell Farms
is primarily a coffee farm in Kona.

They also produce
black pepper and
selected tropical
fruit crops.

Kona coffee is viewed by many
as the best coffee
in Hawaii.

Coffee plants at Greenwell Farms.

Because of the unpredictable weather in Hawaii, coffee beans are dried in specialized houses with a movable roof that can be open on sunny days and closed when rain is predicted.

A mixture of mature and immature
coffee fruit.

Black pepper
planting.

Pepper plant vines climb a support with coconut fiber inside hardware cloth.

Tropical fruits included lychee (Litchi chinensis).

