

Pineapples for sale at a roadside stand.

Commercial pineapple field

Pineapple (Ananas) is a type of bromeliad.

Matt getting a lesson on pineapple propagation.

Pineapple is propagated by removing the side offshoots at the base of the pineapple fruit.

Pineapple offsets planted to form new plants.

Unfortunately, Matt developed an unnatural relationship with his Pineapple.

He carried it around with him to each new hotel refusing to eat it.

