

It was common to see posters and signs related to remembrance of the Revolution.

CONTINUAMOS DEFENDIENDO LA REVOLUCIÓN

Revolution square in Havana had several large iconic images.

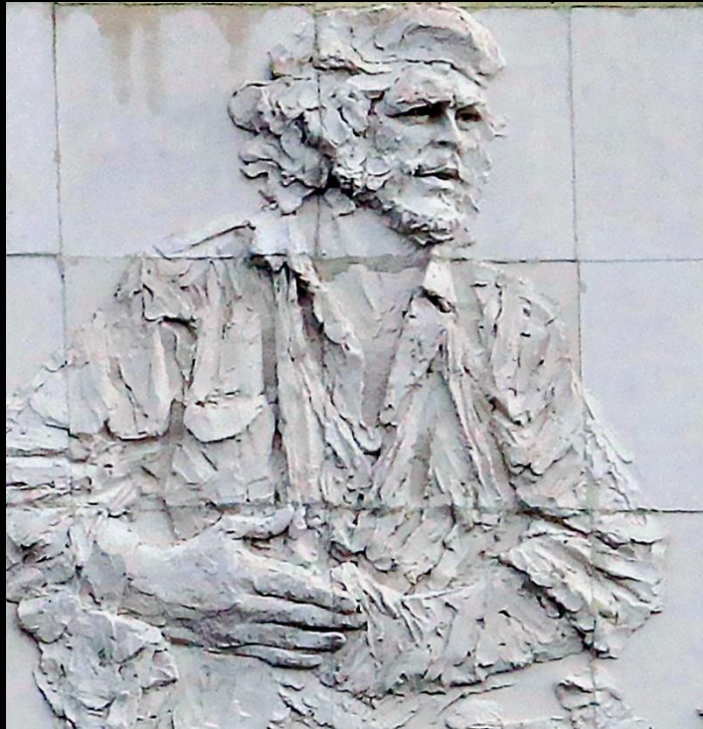

This was for Camilo Cienfuegos with the inscription Vas bien, Fidel – Your doing fine, Fidel.

The facing image was for Che
Guevara with the inscription
Hasta la Victoria Siempre – Until Victory, Always.

Imagery of Che Guevara was very popular and common throughout Cuba.

Santa Clara was an important city during the Revolution and home of the Che Guevara monument and mausoleum.

It seemed like a good place for a group photo.

SE ASIGNA AL COMANDANTE
ERNESTO CUEVARA LA MI-
SION DE CONducir DESDE
LA SIERRA MAESTRA HASTA
LA PROVINCIA DE LAS VILLAS
UNA COLUMNA REBELDE

Tributes to Che Guevara were very common around Santa Clara.

Statue of Che Guevara
holding a child.

Vidal Park in Santa Clara.

Serguei in front of Marta Abreu's statue giving us information about Santa Clara's pivotal role in the Revolution.

Santa Clara Libre hotel still has the shell hole scars in its facade.

Getting around.

There is also a statue of Pope John Paul II in Santa Clara.

Remedios is a colonial city an hour from Santa Clara.

The central plaza was ringed with colonial Spanish buildings and large shade trees.

Colorful streets of Remedios.

Dr. Rowell
contemplating Remedios.

The central plaza
has two churches
on either side.

The larger church is the Iglesia Mayor de San Jan Bautista.

A nice women explained to us that at Christmas, two neighborhoods in Remedios try to out-do each other with colorful parade floats and fireworks on the Las Parrandas de Remedios.

