

Sugarcane and Rum

Sugar has been historically the major agronomic crop for Cuba.

Sugar cane field.

We had an overview of the sugarcane industry by a lecture by Federico Dominguez.

We visited a sugar Museum created from an old sugar
cane factory.

Parts of the museum area were from derelict parts of the factory.

The inside of the sugar refinery.

Talking steam engines.

The sugar mill contained a wonderful array of old steam machinery.

Emily
and Elena

The usual outfit for a female official or guide included netted stockings.

There was a man at the museum making
palm leaf insects.

One of the byproducts of sugar is rum
production.

We also visited the sugar and rum museum in Havana.

Grace and Robbie
having fun at the rum museum.

But not as much fun as
Dr. Rowell.

That's going to leave a mark.

Pepe

Tour of the Rum Museum

The tour ends
with a rum
tasting.

There was an opportunity to purchase Cuban rum as souvenirs.

Havana Club
Havana Club

3-year rum for about 6
dollars.

5.55

7-year rum for
about 8
dollars.

The maximo is over $1,000 a bottle.

Carolyn with gifts for home.

1429

MARCELO SALADO

