

If you were not in class on Thursday, 12 January, or Tuesday, 17 January, you missed some or all of the first 35 minutes of a Forest Service video, "The Greatest Good." You can watch it at Audio Visual Services in the basement of W. T. Young Library. You cannot check the DVD out of the library, but they can set you up in a viewing room.

You will need to watch from the beginning of the DVD through "Part I: The Fight for Conservation." You may stop when "Part II: Building the System" begins.
