1. How does this course provide for timely and appropriate interaction between students and faculty and among students? Does the course syllabus conform to University Senate Syllabus Guidelines, specifically the Distance Learning Considerations?

2. How do you ensure that the experience for a DL student is comparable to that of a classroom-based student's experience? Aspects to explore: textbooks, course goals, assessment of student learning outcomes, etc.

3. How is the integrity of student work ensured? Please speak to aspects such as password-protected course portals, proctors for exams at interactive video sites; academic offense policy; etc.

4. Will offering this course via DL result in at least 25% or at least 50% (based on total credit hours required for completion) of a degree program being offered via any form of DL, as defined above?

If yes, which percentage, and which program(s)?

5. How are students taking the course via DL assured of equivalent access to student services, similar to that of a student taking the class in a traditional classroom setting?

6. How do course requirements ensure that students make appropriate use of learning resources?

7. Please explain specifically how access is provided to laboratories, facilities, and equipment appropriate to the course or program.

8. How are students informed of procedures for resolving technical complaints? Does the syllabus list the entities available to offer technical help with the delivery and/or receipt of the course, such as the Information Technology Customer Service Center (http://www.uky.edu/UKIT)?

9. Will the course be delivered via services available through the Distance Learning Program (DLP) and the Academic Technology Group (ATL)? NO

If no, explain how student enrolled in DL courses are able to use the technology employed, as well as how students will be provided with assistance in using said technology.

10. Does the syllabus contain all the required components? NO

11. I, the instructor of record, have read and understood all of the university-level statements regarding DL.

In general, undergraduate courses are developed on the principle that one semester hour of credit represents one hour of classroom meeting per week for a semester, exclusive of any laboratory meeting. Laboratory meeting generally, re-business per week for a semester 16 hour and 8 unit (from 05.5.1).

These not alter the Distance Learning Time in order for a proposed course to be considered for CE eligibility.

In order to change a program, a program change form must also be submitted.

Course Description
Special topics exploring rhetoric and popular culture, with a focus on the everyday persuasion and influence generated through popular films, music, television, social media, and other forms of public discourse. Repeatable up to 6 hours. Prereq: Completion of Composition and Communication requirement or consent of instructor.

This course positions “hip”—in marked opposition to the popular and increasingly pejorative implications of the word as merely of the moment, fashionable, trendy, ephemeral, even disposable—as an enduring canon, subject to the same laws of evolution, stasis, and fluctuation of any other canon. Hip is a counter-tradition, shadow of the “official” canon, with its own sources, progenitors, and evolution. We want to trace those permutations, chart where they have taken us and speculate about where we’re going now. In addition to our foundations in rhetoric, we will be examining different kinds of artifacts of (mostly) American culture which constitute this canon.

Throughout, we will try to connect the overall concepts and contradictions of hip to specific texts which exemplify its history and development. In broader terms we will consider the complex intertwining of black and white culture, the significance of the trickster figure, the role of drugs and criminality, the contributions of outlaw and outsider points of view, the paradoxes of commercialism and cultural consumption, the looming threat of actual mainstream popularity and assimilation, and the tenuous role of women in the hip ethos.

Student Learning Outcomes
By the end of the semester, students will be able to…

• demonstrate an understanding of historical, societal, and cultural contexts relevant to rhetoric.
• analyze relationships between technology and popular culture.
• identify and critique trends in media cultures.
• apply rhetorical and cultural theory to cultural adaptations of technology.
• analyze written, oral, and visual rhetoric.
Required Texts

The Outlaw Bible of American Literature, edited by Alan Kaufman, Neil Ortenberg, and Barney Rosset, Thunders Mouth, 2004

Recommended Texts

The Rhetorical Tradition: Readings from Classical Times to the Present, Bizzell and Herzberg

All Night Party: the Women of Bohemian Greenwich Village

Course Responsibilities

We will be working with approximately fifteen films. You are responsible for viewing almost all of the films outside class—a few of the shortest ones will be screened during scheduled classroom time. Most weeks of the semester, a film will be screened on Thursday at 4 pm in rooms 60 and B 82 in the Young Media Center in the basement of the library. If you cannot make these viewings, you can check out the films and watch them in the Media Center. Usually two weeks before and two weeks after the days we view and discuss the film, it will be available on reserve at the Media Center—a second viewing is recommended but not required. If you have some alternate way to view the films (some of them may be difficult or impossible to obtain any other way), that’s up to you, but bear in mind that I will be giving quizzes periodically to make sure everyone is keeping up with the material. The course is more effective when all of us have just watched the film in question.

60% of your grade will be based on two-in-class exams: a mid-term (25%) and a comprehensive final (35%). These exams will call for reasonably short essay-style answers which should be framed in a well-developed paragraph. The questions will draw from the films themselves, background, analysis, terms, and ideas presented in the lecture, and the readings from both textbooks and occasional pdf files.
40% of your grade will be based on four five-page papers that will discuss one or more of the films and other materials we have just covered in that portion of the course. Every five weeks or so, you will be asked to turn in a short essay which addresses a fairly narrow and specific issue you have uncovered in at least one of the documentaries we have just studied. This may be an aesthetic or structural innovation, a matter of content, or a contrast or comparison of techniques, among other options, as long as it is closely read, well argued, and supported with specific evidence from the films themselves. I particularly do not want a synopsis, a review, or an unsupported subjective reaction. Each of these short essays will be worth approximately 10% of your grade to constitute 40% in aggregate.

Other Course Policies

Final Exam Information: Wednesday, May 7th at 10:30 a.m.

Mid-term Grade: Mid-term grades will be posted in myUK by the deadline established in the Academic Calendar (http://www.uky.edu/Registrar/AcademicCalendar.htm).

Technology: Please note that we will be using Blackboard (Bb) on a regular basis and to the degree that the technology is useful for our class study. It is your responsibility to check Bb daily for announcements and assignments. You should also print out important documents posted on Bb such as major project prompts, etc., in the event of a technology failure. If we have technological mishaps with Bb, you should always have an alternate plan for getting your work to me; don’t use computer problems as an excuse for not doing your work. Always have a backup file.

Late Work: Major Projects: All major writings must be turned in to me during our class period or during the Bb time window. Any piece turned in after the class period on the date it is due will be considered late. If you cannot make it to class on the due date, arrange to have a classmate turn in your portfolio or turn it in earlier. Computer or printer problems are not acceptable reasons for turning in a late paper; always back-up your files. Late projects will lose .5 for each calendar day they are late, except in the case of excused absences.

Minor Assignments: No minor assignments, with the exception of peer review, may be turned in late (meaning after class or after the designated time for Blackboard) or made up for credit. In the case of an excused absence, the assignment will be not be factored in your final grade.

Quizzes: Quizzes will be given at the beginning of the class period. This means that if you are late, you can only answer the questions you were present for—I will not repeat questions you missed because you were late. Quizzes cannot be made up in the event of an absence; however, you will not be penalized for quizzes missed because of an excused absence.
Evaluation:

Major Projects: Major projects will be graded on an A,B,C,D,E scale, corresponding to the university’s point system. Each major project will be evaluated according to the rubric, portfolio grading sheet, and the essay’s success in fulfilling the assignment prompt.

Minor Assignments & Quizzes: Minor assignments and quizzes will be evaluated using an A,B,C,D,E scale, by points, or using a 3+, 3, 3- system. Some minor assignments may simply be awarded a “CR,” signifying the student receives credit for having fully completed the assignment.

General Grading Scale: A 3.6-4.0  B 2.7-3.59  C 1.7-2.69  D .7-1.69  E 0-.69

Attendance Policy

If a student misses more than one-fifth of class contact hours for any reason, he or she cannot receive credit for the course. For this course, that means upon your 9th absence you will fail the class. You will be allowed three unexcused absences without penalty, but on your 4th unexcused absence, you will lose .5 (1/2 point) from your final grade. For every unexcused absence thereafter, another .5 will be subtracted from your final grade. For example, if your final grade is 3.1 (B) and you have six unexcused absences, your grade will drop 1.5 points to 1.6 (C). If you are absent, you are responsible for the material you missed. It is solely the student’s responsibility to provide proper documentation for excused absences. See http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/ for the University’s policy on excused/unexcused absences. Students are expected to come to class on time and stay for the whole period. Each time you come late and/or leave early, .1 will be subtracted from your final grade.

Excused Absences

Students need to notify the professor of absences prior to class when possible. S.R. 5.2.4.2 defines the following as acceptable reasons for excused absences: (a) serious illness, (b) illness or death of family member, (c) University-related trips, (d) major religious holidays, and (e) other circumstances found to fit “reasonable cause for nonattendance” by the professor.

Students anticipating an absence for a major religious holiday are responsible for notifying the instructor in writing of anticipated absences due to their observance of such holidays no later than the last day in the semester to add a class. Information regarding dates of major religious holidays may be obtained through the religious liaison, Mr. Jake Karnes (859-257-2754).

Students are expected to withdraw from the class if more than 20% of the classes scheduled for the semester are missed (excused or unexcused) per university policy.

Verification of Absences

Students may be asked to verify their absences in order for them to be considered excused. Senate Rule 5.2.4.2 states that faculty have the right to request “appropriate verification” when students claim an excused absence because of illness or death in the family. Appropriate notification of absences due to university-related trips is required prior to the absence.

Make-up opportunity
When an absence is excused, students will be given the opportunity to make up missed work and/or exams. It is the student’s responsibility to inform the instructor of the absence—preferably in advance—but no later than one week after it occurs.

Academic Integrity

Civil Discourse, Rights, and Responsibilities:
During this course we will examine ideas from diverse perspectives. At this university, students and faculty are afforded an environment that allows for intellectual expression; challenging issues may arise, but none of these should be expressed in an inappropriate manner, verbally, physically, or in writing. One of the goals of a university is to challenge us to think again about what we know and all that we do not. This demands we share responsibility for creating and maintaining a civil learning environment.

Per university policy, students shall not plagiarize, cheat, or falsify or misuse academic records. Students are expected to adhere to University policy on cheating and plagiarism in all courses. The minimum penalty for a first offense is a zero on the assignment on which the offense occurred. If the offense is considered severe or the student has other academic offenses on their record, more serious penalties, up to suspension from the university may be imposed.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious breaches of academic conduct. Each student is advised to become familiar with the various forms of academic dishonesty as explained in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Complete information can be found at the following website: http://www.uky.edu/Ombud. A plea of ignorance is not acceptable as a defense against the charge of academic dishonesty. It is important that you review this information as all ideas borrowed from others need to be properly credited.

Part II of Student Rights and Responsibilities (available online http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html) states that all academic work, written or otherwise, submitted by students to their instructors or other academic supervisors, is expected to be the result of their own thought, research, or self-expression. In cases where students feel unsure about the question of plagiarism involving their own work, they are obliged to consult their instructors on the matter before submission.

When students submit work purporting to be their own, but which in any way borrows ideas, organization, wording or anything else from another source without appropriate acknowledgement of the fact, the students are guilty of plagiarism. Plagiarism includes reproducing someone else’s work, whether it be a published article, chapter of a book, a paper from a friend or some file, or something similar to this. Plagiarism also includes the practice of employing or allowing another person to alter or revise the work which a student submits as his/her own, whoever that other person may be.
WAS 410: Rhetoric and Popular Culture
Subtitle: The Rhetorical Canon of Hip

Students may discuss assignments among themselves or with an instructor or tutor, but when the actual work is done, it must be done by the student, and the student alone. When a student’s assignment involves research in outside sources of information, the student must carefully acknowledge exactly what, where and how he/she employed them. If the words of someone else are used, the student must put quotation marks around the passage in question and add an appropriate indication of its origin. Making simple changes while leaving the organization, content and phraseology intact is plagiaristic. However, nothing in these Rules shall apply to those ideas which are so generally and freely circulated as to be a part of the public domain (Section 6.3.1).

Please note: Any assignment you turn in may be submitted to an electronic database to check for plagiarism.

Academic Integrity

Accommodations due to disability:
If you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please see me as soon as possible during scheduled office hours. In order to receive accommodations in this course, you must provide me with a Letter of Accommodation from the Disability Resource Center (Room 2, Alumni Gym, 257-2754, email address: jkarnes@email.uky.edu) for coordination of campus disability

Spring 2014 Schedule

Here is a schedule of readings and viewing for the course. Most of the reading are from your three primary texts: Hip: the History, by John Leland (referenced hereafter as Leland); The Outlaw Bible of American Literature, edited by Barney Rosset, etc.(referenced hereafter as Rosset); and The Cool School, edited by Glenn O’Brien (referenced hereafter as O’Brien.) Both film and texts are subject to some tweaking here and there, but this should give you a feel for what is expected.

All showings are scheduled Thursday afternoons from 4 – 7 pm in rooms B82 and B60 in the basement of the Young Library, in the Young Media Center on the north wing. Most films will be on reserve for student viewing (w/ ID) during business hours one week before and after the scheduled screening.

Course Description
Special topics exploring rhetoric and popular culture, with a focus on the everyday persuasion and influence generated through popular films, music, television, social media, and other forms of public discourse. Repeatable up to 6 hours. Prereq: Completion of Composition and Communication requirement or consent of instructor.

This course positions “hip”—in marked opposition to the popular and increasingly pejorative implications of the word as merely of the moment, fashionable, trendy, ephemeral, even disposable—as an enduring canon, subject to the same laws of evolution, stasis, and fluctuation of any other canon. Hip is a counter-tradition, shadow of the “official” canon, with its own sources, progenitors, and evolution. We want to trace those permutations, chart where they have taken us and speculate about where we’re going now. In addition to our foundations in rhetoric, we will be examining different kinds of artifacts of (mostly) American culture which constitute this canon.

Throughout, we will try to connect the overall concepts and contradictions of hip to specific texts which exemplify its history and development. In broader terms we will consider the complex intertwining of black and white culture, the significance of the trickster figure, the role of drugs and criminality, the contributions of outlaw and outsider points of view, the paradoxes of commercialism and cultural consumption, the looming threat of actual mainstream popularity and assimilation, and the tenuous role of women in the hip ethos.

Student Learning Outcomes
By the end of the semester, students will be able to . . .

- demonstrate an understanding of historical, societal, and cultural contexts relevant to rhetoric.
- analyze relationships between technology and popular culture.
- identify and critique trends in media cultures.
- apply rhetorical and cultural theory to cultural adaptations of technology.
- analyze written, oral, and visual rhetoric.
WHO 410: RHETORIC AND POPULAR CULTURE
SUBTITLE: THE RHETORICAL CANON OF HIP

- compose and edit prose for stylistic principles appropriate to the genre and purpose.
- employ highly refined strategies for organizing, revising, editing, and proofreading.

Required Texts

The Outlaw Bible of American Literature, edited by Alan Kaufman, Neil Ortenberg, and BarNEY Rosset. Thunders Mouth, 2004

Recommended Texts

The Rhetorical Tradition: Readings from Classical Times to the Present, Bizzell and Herzberg

All Night Party: the Women of Bohemian Greenwich Village

Course Responsibilities

We will be working with approximately fifteen films. You are responsible for viewing almost all of the films outside class—a few of the shortest ones will be screened during scheduled classroom time. Most weeks of the semester, a film will be screened on Thursday at 4 pm in rooms 60 and B 82 in the Young Media Center in the basement of the library. If you cannot make these viewings, you can check out the films and watch them in the Media Center. Usually two weeks before and two weeks after the days we view and discuss the film, it will be available on reserve at the Media Center—a second viewing is recommended but not required. If you have some alternate way to view the films (some of them may be difficult or impossible to obtain any other way), that’s up to you, but bear in mind that I will be giving quizzes periodically to make sure everyone is keeping up with the material. The course is more effective when all of us have just watched the film in question.

60% of your grade will be based on two-in-class exams: a mid-term (25%) and a comprehensive final (35%). These exams will call for reasonably short essay-style answers which should be framed in a well-developed paragraph. The questions will draw from the films themselves, background, analysis, terms, and ideas presented in the lecture, and the readings from both textbooks and occasional pdf files.

Subtitle: THE RHETORICAL CANON OF HIP

40% of your grade will be based on four five-page papers that will discuss one or more of the films and other materials we have just covered in that portion of the course. Every five weeks or so, you will be asked to turn in a short essay which addresses a fairly narrow and specific issue you have uncovered in at least one of the documentaries we have just studied. This may be an aesthetic or structural innovation, a matter of content, or a contrast or comparison of techniques, among other options, as long as it is closely read, well argued, and supported with specific evidence from the films themselves. I particularly do not want a synopsis, a review, or an unsupported subjective reaction. Each of these short essays will be worth approximately 10% of your grade to constitute 40% in aggregate.

Other Course Policies

Final Exam Information: Wednesday, May 7th at 10:30 a.m.

Mid-term Grade: Mid-term grades will be posted in myUK by the deadline established in the Academic Calendar (http://www.uky.edu/Registrar/AcademicCalendar.htm)

Technology:
Please note that we will be using Blackboard (Bb) on a regular basis and to the degree that the technology is useful for our class study. It is your responsibility to check Bb daily for announcements and assignments. You should also print out important documents posted on Bb such as major project prompts, etc., in the event of a technology failure. If we have technological mishaps with Bb, you should always have an alternate plan for getting your work to me; don’t use computer problems as an excuse for not doing your work. Always have a backup file.

Late Work:
* Major Projects: All major writings must be turned in to me during our class period or during the Bb time window. Any piece turned in after the class period on the date it is due will be considered late. If you cannot make it to class on the due date, arrange to have a classmate turn in your portfolio or turn it in earlier. Computer or printer problems are not acceptable reasons for turning in a late paper; always back-up your files. Late projects will lose .5 for each calendar day they are late, except in the case of excused absences.

* Minor Assignments: No minor assignments, with the exception of peer review, may be turned in late (meaning after class or after the designated time for Blackboard) or made up for credit. In the case of an excused absence, the assignment will be not be factored in your final grade.

* Quizzes: Quizzes will be given at the beginning of the class period. This means that if you are late, you can only answer the questions you were present for—I will not repeat questions you missed because you were late. Quizzes cannot be made up in the event of an absence; however, you will not be penalized for quizzes missed because of an excused absence.
Evaluation:

Major Projects: Major projects will be graded on an A, B, C, D, E scale, corresponding to the university's point system. Each major project will be evaluated according to the rubric, portfolio grading sheet, and the essay's success in fulfilling the assignment prompt.

Minor Assignments & Quizzes: Minor assignments and quizzes will be evaluated using an A, B, C, D, E scale, by points, or using a 3+, 3, 3- system. Some minor assignments may simply be awarded a "CR," signifying the student receives credit for having fully completed the assignment.

General Grading Scale: A 3.6-4.0  B 2.7-3.59  C 1.7-2.69  D .7-1.69  E 0-.69

Attendance Policy

If a student misses more than one-fifth of class contact hours for any reason, he or she cannot receive credit for the course. For this course, that means upon your 9th absence you will fail the class. You will be allowed three unexcused absences without penalty, but on your 4th unexcused absence, you will lose .5 (1/2 point) from your final grade. For every unexcused absence thereafter, another .5 will be subtracted from your final grade. For example, if your final grade is 3.1 (B) and you have six unexcused absences, your grade will drop 1.5 points to 1.6 (C). If you are absent, you are responsible for the material you missed. It is solely the student's responsibility to provide proper documentation for excused absences. See http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/ for the University's policy on excused/unexcused absences. Students are expected to come to class on time and stay for the whole period. Each time you come late and/or leave early, .1 will be subtracted from your final grade.

Excused Absences

Students need to notify the professor of absences prior to class when possible. S.R. 5.2.4.2 defines the following as acceptable reasons for excused absences: (a) serious illness, (b) illness or death of family member, (c) University-related trips, (d) major religious holidays, and (e) other circumstances found to fit "reasonable cause for nonattendance" by the professor.

Students anticipating an absence for a major religious holiday are responsible for notifying the instructor in writing of anticipated absences due to their observance of such holidays no later than the last day in the semester to add a class. Information regarding dates of major religious holidays may be obtained through the religious liaison, Mr. Jake Karnes (859-257-2754).

Students are expected to withdraw from the class if more than 20% of the classes scheduled for the semester are missed (excused or unexcused) per university policy.

Verification of Absences

Students may be asked to verify their absences in order for them to be considered excused. Senate Rule 5.2.4.2 states that faculty have the right to request "appropriate verification"
when students claim an excused absence because of illness or death in the family. Appropriate notification of absences due to university-related trips is required prior to the absence.

Make-up opportunity
When an absence is excused, students will be given the opportunity to make up missed work and/or exams. It is the student's responsibility to inform the instructor of the absence—preferably in advance—but no later than one week after it occurs.

Academic Integrity

Civil Discourse, Rights, and Responsibilities:
During this course we will examine ideas from diverse perspectives. At this university, students and faculty are afforded an environment that allows for intellectual expression; challenging issues may arise, but none of these should be expressed in an inappropriate manner, verbally, physically, or in writing. One of the goals of a university is to challenge us to think again about what we know and all that we do not. This demands we share responsibility for creating and maintaining a civil learning environment.

Per university policy, students shall not plagiarize, cheat, or falsify or misuse academic records. Students are expected to adhere to University policy on cheating and plagiarism in all courses. The minimum penalty for a first offense is a zero on the assignment on which the offense occurred. If the offense is considered severe or the student has other academic offenses on their record, more serious penalties, up to suspension from the university may be imposed.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious breaches of academic conduct. Each student is advised to become familiar with the various forms of academic dishonesty as explained in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Complete information can be found at the following website: http://www.uky.edu/Ombud. A plea of ignorance is not acceptable as a defense against the charge of academic dishonesty. It is important that you review this information as all ideas borrowed from others need to be properly credited.

Part II of Student Rights and Responsibilities (available online http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html) states that all academic work, written or otherwise, submitted by students to their instructors or other academic supervisors, is expected to be the result of their own thought, research, or self-expression. In cases where students feel unsure about the question of plagiarism involving their own work, they are obliged to consult their instructors on the matter before submission.

When students submit work purporting to be their own, but which in any way borrows ideas, organization, wording or anything else from another source without appropriate acknowledgement of the fact, the students are guilty of plagiarism. Plagiarism includes reproducing someone else's work, whether it be a published article, chapter of a book, a paper from a friend or some file, or something similar to this. Plagiarism also includes the practice of employing or allowing another person to alter or revise the work which a student submits as his/her own, whoever that other person may be.
WBB 410: RHETORIC AND POPULAR CULTURE
Subtitle: THE RHETORICAL CANON OF HIP

Students may discuss assignments among themselves or with an instructor or tutor, but when the actual work is done, it must be done by the student, and the student alone. When a student’s assignment involves research in outside sources of information, the student must carefully acknowledge exactly what, where and how he/she employed them. If the words of someone else are used, the student must put quotation marks around the passage in question and add an appropriate indication of its origin. Making simple changes while leaving the organization, content and phraseology intact is plagiaristic. However, nothing in these Rules shall apply to those ideas which are so generally and freely circulated as to be a part of the public domain (Section 6.3.1).

Please note: Any assignment you turn in may be submitted to an electronic database to check for plagiarism.

Academic Integrity

Accommodations due to disability:
If you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please see me as soon as possible during scheduled office hours. In order to receive accommodations in this course, you must provide me with a Letter of Accommodation from the Disability Resource Center (Room 2, Alumni Gym, 257-2754, email address: jkarnes@email.uky.edu) for coordination of campus disability.

Spring 2014 Schedule

Here is a schedule of readings and viewing for the course. Most of the reading are from your three primary texts: Hip: the History, by John Leland (referenced hereafter as Leland); The Outlaw Bible of American Literature, edited by Barney Rosset, etc.(referenced hereafter as Rosset); and The Cool School, edited by Glenn O’Brien (referenced hereafter as O’Brien.) Both film and texts are subject to some tweaking here and there, but this should give you a feel for what is expected.

All showings are scheduled Thursday afternoons from 4 – 7 pm in rooms B82 and B60 in the basement of the Young Library, in the Young Media Center on the north wing. Most films will be on reserve for student viewing (w/ ID) during business hours one week before and after the scheduled screening.
