

Instructions for 2009 Summer Financial Aid

Priority filing date is March 15, 2009, however you may apply after that date for Federal Direct Loans, if you have remaining eligibility.

The availability of summer aid is determined by any remaining eligibility you may have from the 2008-2009 academic year and availability of funds. See the back of the summer application for Federal Direct Loan eligibility requirements.

If the actual hours of enrollment differ from what you report on this application, your eligibility for any financial aid offered may also change.

All disbursements for students attending the 4 week session will not be made until after classes begin. The financial aid office must evaluate whether or not you have met the Standards of Academic Progress after spring grades are posted. If you fail to meet the standards, you will be ineligible for funding for the summer term(s) and your offer of financial aid will be cancelled.

Students attending both the 4 and 8 week sessions will receive two Federal Direct Loan disbursements – one after the beginning of the 4 week and the second disbursement will be 6 weeks later (after June 21, 2009).

Summer Financial Aid Requirements

1. You must have the 2008-2009 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) on file, in addition to this summer application.
2. You must be enrolled in 6 hours (undergraduate) or 5 hours (graduate). These hours may be in one session or they may be the total of both sessions. Audit classes do not count. If you received Pell Grant during the 2008-2009 academic year, your counselor will determine if you have remaining eligibility for summer.

Application Instructions

- Please indicate in Section A whether or not you are interested in a summer Work-Study job. You may work part time and take at least 6 hours, or you may work full-time and not take any classes.
- If you are interested in full-time Work-Study you must have the upcoming 2009-2010 FAFSA on file. You cannot be enrolled in summer classes. You are required to sign a savings agreement that a portion of your earnings will be used as a resource for the 2009-10 academic year. See Robin Gray in 127 Funkhouser if you have questions.
- If you pay child care while attending summer school and want these costs to be included in your summer budget, you must complete the back of the summer application and submit documentation from your day care provider.
