Keynote Speaker

Nancy Stoner is an environmental attorney and Director of the Clean Water Program with the Natural Resources Defense Council. She has 15 years experience using the Clean Water Act to protect rivers, lakes and coastal waters from contaminated stormwater, sewer overflows, agriculture and other sources of water pollution.

Membership

Kentucky Watershed Watch is a membership organization. While we still rely on our sponsors to fund the bulk of our expenses (laboratory analysis and training), much of our administrative work is accomplished with volunteers on a shoe-string budget. To help mail for mailing of sampling packages, volunteer communications, and the annual conference, we need to rely on the support of our members.

Not yet a member? Annual dues are only $20. Return the conference registration form with your check made out to KRWW, Inc. And, thank you for being a part of this important program.

All KRWW volunteers that were not re-certified in 2009 should stay after the conference for a quick re-certification class. Upon completion you will receive a ticket that will be good for 1 free drink at the reception.
