C. Welcome and Introduction

Chair Gannon opened the meeting and asked all attendees to share in a moment of silence in honor of September 11, 2001 and the loss of lives and loved ones on that day.

Chair Gannon continued by welcoming everyone to the Board meeting. He felt all would agree that the Board’s time in Hazard and the region had been informative and deeply rewarding. The committee meetings at the Center of Excellence in Rural Health and the tour of areas in the Appalachian Region Hospital were very educational. He thanked President Stephen Greiner and the staff of Hazard Community and Technical College (HCTC) for being a wonderful host last evening and today. Chair Gannon invited Dr. Greiner to come forward and share some information about HCTC.
President Greiner stated that the College was deeply honored to have the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees visit and he shared a video presentation about the Hazard Community and Technical College.

At the conclusion of the video presentation, President Greiner stated that one of the programs, of which the College is particularly proud, is the partnership with the University Center of the Mountains. He thanked President Capilouto for his support for bringing Bachelor's programs to Hazard. These programs enable students, who would not have an opportunity to attend the University of Kentucky, to obtain a Bachelor's degree without leaving the area. As an example of such a student, President Greiner invited Kristin Baker to come forward to share a brief message with the Board of Trustees.

Ms. Baker stated that she was a single mother of two girls. When she moved back to Hazard a few years ago, she knew she needed to “make a change and create a better life for me and my children. And what better way to do that than to get an education.” She is dually enrolled at the Hazard Community and Technical College and the University of Kentucky and is working on a Bachelor’s degree in Social Work. She didn't realize how well she as doing until she was accepted into the Honors Society of Phi Beta Kappa and a Master’s degree program. With this acceptance, she also received a scholarship for $11,092 for two years and thus was able to continue to go to school. She thanked the Board of Trustees for the support that allow students to stay close to home, raise families, and get an education. It had been a life changing opportunity.

Ms. Baker received a round of applause.

President Greiner concluded by presenting each Trustee with a honorary citizen certificate on behalf of the City of Hazard Mayor Jimmy Ray Lindon as a “Duke” or “Duchess” of Hazard.

President Greiner received a round of applause.

Chair Gannon asked Trustees to note the citizenship document at their seat. As the University of Kentucky must renew its designation as an issuer of J-1 visas for students and scholars, a revised regulation of the United States Department of State asks for certification of US citizenship by each member of the Board of Trustees.

G. Proposed Revision to Governing Regulation: Audit and Compliance Committee (CR 1)

Chair Gannon stated that CR 1 was the second reading of the proposed revision to the Governing Regulations concerning the Audit and Compliance Committee. The recommendation is that the Board of Trustees approve the attached revisions to the Governing Regulations (GR II) which were received for preliminary consideration as CR 1 on June 19, 2015. The revisions are intended to move the Audit and Compliance Subcommittee from its current status as a subcommittee of the Finance Committee to become a regular standing committee of the Board.

Chair Gannon continued that the background states that the University is committed to ensuring that its operations are conducted in accordance with federal and state constitutions, law and regulations, and University regulations. This revision will underscore and demonstrate the commitment to a culture of compliance, by making the Audit and Compliance Subcommittee a regular standing committee of the Board of Trustees. This revision also will put the University in line with its benchmark institutions and other Southeastern Conference schools. Following this revision, the Audit and Compliance Committee will make reports directly to the Board of Trustees instead of to the Finance Committee.

This revision is supported by the President, the General Counsel, and the Executive Vice President for Finance and Administration. In accordance with Governing Regulation XIII, the University Senate, Staff Senate, and Student Government Association have reviewed and support the proposed revision.

Trustee Vance moved approval of CR 1. Trustee Akins seconded the motion and it passed without dissent. (See CR 1 on the Board of Trustees website, www.uky.edu/Trustees, under agenda.)

N. President’s Report (PR1)

President Capilouto shared that over the last two days, he had the pleasure of traveling across Eastern Kentucky and spending time with UK’s partners and friends in Hazard, KY.

On Wednesday, September 9, UK celebrated the 10 year anniversary of the Ronald McDonald Care Mobile Dental Clinic. Led by Dr. Nikki Stone, the Clinic is a collaborative effort to improve oral health in the region. The collaboration includes UK’s colleges of Dentistry and Medicine; the UK Center for Excellence in Rural Health; Ronald McDonald Charities; the Boards of Education in Perry, Leslie and Knott counties; Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital; and many other faith-based and community partners. These are a few among many who have helped lower rates of tooth decay and urgent oral health needs.

President Capilouto recognized and thanked Trustee Hawpe, as they spent time with media outlets, regional thought leaders and the Hazard Herald newspaper. They also toured Appalshop, the independent radio station and creative multimedia center in Whitesburg. Appalshop has been in operation for more than three decades, and provides enriching artistic and cultural programs in the region. WUKY and Morehead University’s radio station partner with Appalshop to share Kentucky stories with their listeners.

President Capilouto met with Jared Arnett, Executive Director of the Shaping Our Appalachian Region (SOAR) initiative. He stated they shared a rich conversation about SOAR, the University’s involvement and how the initiative can foster a bright future through existing regional resources and expertise at the University of Kentucky. President Capilouto also spent time with television station WYMT, a critical source of news in the region.

President Capilouto stated that his travels over the last two days and with the Board meeting this afternoon, illustrate the University’s deep and abiding commitment to the region and to the entire Commonwealth. It is why UK established a priority to build a multidisciplinary research facility on its Lexington campus. The facility will be a hub for creative thinkers from myriad backgrounds and academic disciplines to uniquely tackle Kentucky questions. President Capilouto thanked again Governor Beshear, President Stivers, Speaker Stumbo and the Kentucky General Assembly for their support of this bold endeavor.

President Capilouto stated that equally important to a new facility for research and discovery is the way UK’s scientists and scholars work in – and more importantly, with – the communities UK serves. He thanked the leaders of the Kentucky Valley Education Cooperative, who presented earlier at the Academic and Student Affairs Committee, and the innovators for creating the new ways to teach, and the new ways students are going to have to learn. The University must follow their lead.

President Capilouto was pleased to introduce Dr. Lisa Cassis, Vice President for Research to update the Board on the collaborative and ongoing research in Appalachia.

Dr. Cassis began that the definition of health disparities, is simply health problems that affect a population, or a region. The new research building will assist the University in deepening its partnerships with collaborators across the state and region to tackle these health problems. The University wants communities to also be partners and to be engaged from the start of the research, in its design, and its implementation. It is very important that whatever information investigators learn in this research is disseminated back to the community and used to improve the health of the community.

Dr. Cassis stated that currently the University has 68 actively funded research projects of direct relevance to the Appalachian region. Totaling almost $33 million in 2015, it is approximately 10 percent of the overall funding to the University of Kentucky. Three areas in particular are drug abuse, obesity and nutrition, and tobacco. Dr. Cassis highlighted a few of the researchers and research and funding in these areas. They were:

- Dr. Michelle Tindall: Reducing drug usage among rural women with HIV (National Institutes of Health)
- Dr. Dan Wermeling: An easy inhalable antidote for opioid/heroin overdose (National Institutes of Health)
- Dr. Ann Vail: Enhancing community collaborations to promote education and access to healthy foods (Center for Disease Control)
- Dr. Frances Hardin: Increasing consumption of foods that decrease obesity-induced cardiovascular diseases (National Institute of Nursing Research)
- Dr. Steve Browning: Environmental exposures and pulmonary health (National Institutes of Health)
- Dr. Ellen Hahn: Reducing radon and second hand smoke exposure in home (National Institutes of Health); smoke-free policies

Dr. Cassis continued that the new health disparities building will build on the work currently being done but will also:

- Bring together researchers, across a broad range of disciplines, to approach the complexities behind health disparities.
- Approach health disparities differently, capitalizing upon the co-location of multiple colleges and disciplines together for research synergy.
- Create a culture that brings people together, both from the campus and the community; that fosters collaboration on issues of health disparity.
- Provide a platform for outreach to funders, policy makers, the public and the Commonwealth’s constituents.
• Establish an environment that makes people want to use this building, both as a place to work and as a destination for collaboration and interaction.

With over 300,000 square feet of modern research space within six floors, it will be located in close proximity to the Biomedical/Biological Sciences Research Building and the Pharmacy Building. There will be a physical connection, currently being called the “Appalachian Translational Trail” that will join all three health science buildings together. This approach will bring campus and community together to study Appalachia’s problems using applications of all the University’s knowledge.

In closing, Dr. Cassis looked forward to sharing more details of this exciting endeavor over the coming months. (For more information, see Cassis Presentation on the Board of Trustees website, www.uky.edu/Trustees, under agenda.)

Dr. Capilouto acknowledged Vice President of Student Affairs, Dr. Robert Mock, on his selection as the next President of Johnson and Wales University in Charlotte, North Carolina. Over the last five years under his leadership, programing in community service, diversity and inclusion grew at a rapid pace. Dr. Mock oversaw the growth in UK’s Greek Community, and he helped foster a safer campus through his support for the VIP Center, Counseling Center and his leadership on the new Student Code of Conduct.

Dr. Capilouto thanked Dr. Mock for his mentorship to the students he had served and his willingness to invest his time in helping others.

Dr. Mock received a round of applause.

Dr. Capilouto stated four years ago, under the Board’s guidance, the University set a series of priorities that would dramatically change the campus. These priorities set about providing an outstanding educational experience for UK’s students. They were:

• Students-first university
• Renew the campus core
• Develop vibrant campus programs
• Initiatives in eLearning & technology
• Safety and security
• Retain and reward talented faculty & staff
• Maintain affordability and access

Because of the priorities set, the University of Kentucky is increasingly an attractive draw for the best and brightest in the state and the region, and for those who are committed to being the best and brightest when they leave UK’s campus. This enrollment cycle, UK had:

• a record number of resident and nonresident applications in admission;
• second consecutive year UK’s first year class has surpassed 5,000 students;
• steady growth in the fifth Congressional District;
• diversity enrollment (African American and Hispanic) continues to increase
President Capilouto introduced Provost Tim Tracy to update the Board on the retention of these students.

Provost Tracy stated that in building a quality student population, the University also must concentrate its efforts on helping them succeed once they arrive on campus. It is the University’s most sacred duty to ensure students leave this campus with a college degree and with the critical thinking skills and practical knowledge to succeed. In partnership with deans and the faculty leadership, UK is utilizing data, faculty, and student service personnel, to help shepherd students to a quality degree. Because of these efforts, Provost Tracy was proud to report that the University earned its highest first to second year retention rate in UK history, 82.7 percent. The University also realized the second highest six-year graduation rate of 61 percent.

Provost Tracy continued that there is still much work to do, but the retention and graduation rate numbers are moving in the right direction. It is a testament to the campus-wide commitment and collaboration to strengthen student success. Improvement in UK’s retention and graduation rates are indicators of a broader campus culture, dedicated to academic achievement and personal development.

Provost Tracy stated that central to this work is the Committee on Student Success (CSS). Born in the spring semester of 2014 and composed of academic administrators, faculty, and professional staff, the CSS operates at both a strategic and a practical level that is ideal for planning and implementing concrete actions needed for institutional improvement. In collaboration with the Provost’s Office, the academic colleges, undergraduate education, enrollment management, student affairs, and institutional diversity, the Committee on Student Success has laid the foundation on which to further strengthen a culture of student success.

Graduate and professional students represent slightly over 23 percent of the total student population, which places UK at the midpoint of its benchmarks and near the top of SEC schools. Provost Tracy concluded that “four years ago, we set out a path to transform this institution, and in doing so, we are transforming the student body and the student experience. Today is not just about the first-year class, but about overall enrollment. It's not just about this new cohort of students. It's also about the students they join, and how new Wildcats add a rich and rewarding dynamic campus life.”

President Capilouto thanked Don Witt, Associate Provost for Enrollment Management and his team for the countless hours of recruiting students to UK. The University hosted a record number of prospective students and families to the Lexington, Northern Kentucky and Louisville Preview Nights.

President also thanked Provost Tracy, deans and faculty for their academic leadership and efforts to improve student recruitment and retention. The University is seeing greater levels of success, across the board.

President Capilouto concluded that the progress made is because of the people and the foundations laid. To be the institution UK wants to be and must be for the Commonwealth, the University must make progress on multiple fronts. The retention and graduation rates of UK’s students must be accelerated and expanded so that UK can prepare a work force for businesses and new economies. (For more information, see Enrollment Presentation on the Board of Trustees website, www.uky.edu/Trustees, under agenda.)

For the fiscal year ending June 30 2015, the Endowment pool increased by 1.59%, compared to a gain of 4.62% for the policy benchmark return. Diversified Inflation and Global Tactical Asset Allocation strategies were key detractors from Endowment pool performance in the period.

If the patient is in need of advanced care, this partnership allows transport to UK HealthCare hospitals.

Trustee Vance stated that the Committee approved and recommended approval to the Finance Committee, FCR 6, Renovate/Upgrade UK HealthCare Facilities (Phase I-F/I-G) Capital Project. And what I found interesting about the past few days is that we have so many individuals who are working to change the world for one person. And when you put those individuals together, what they can do is just phenomenal.”
