The Graduate Council met on October 17, 2002, and approved the following:

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Classics

Masters Degree Program in Classics

Classics has decided to drop requirement for graduate students to demonstrate Modern Foreign Language competency. Classics graduate students already work in two ancient languages. Those who intend to go on to a doctoral program will be encouraged to achieve modern language competency as well. Many Classics students do not intend to go on to a doctoral program and for them this requirement is not appropriate.
