Application for Offering a Course Using a Distance Education Format

1. Course Prefix and Number: CIS 150
Course Title: Internet Technologies

Course Description: This course will provide students with a thorough study of traditional and emerging Internet technologies. Topics include Internet fundamentals, Internet applications, Internet client/server information delivery systems, and Internet client/server computing. Students will have hands-on experience with a number of Internet applications, including rudimentary programming in an Internet environment.

Course Objectives/Competencies:

Upon successful completion of this course, the student can:

- Describe Internet fundamentals such as the history of the Internet, terminology, political considerations on the Internet, electronic commerce, and netiquette.
Describe Internet technical issues such as network layers, Internet protocols, and connectivity.
Use Internet applications for email, file transfer, remote access, and document delivery.
Create and publish Internet content.
- Use existing scripting applications and create original client/server applications to enhance information delivery.

2. Effective date (semester and year): First Summer Session, 2004
3. Describe the type of distance learning delivery method to be used.

This course will be taught via the Internet.

4. Describe how the course will achieve, in new ways, the same learning outcomes as when the course is taught by traditional delivery methods.

This course will be taught as a web-based distance course, using an online course management system. Traditional features such as homework assignments and exams will be supplemented with online chats, threaded discussions, and web-based content delivery. Attendance at an orientation session and other "live" events may be required and will be listed in the course syllabus. Submission of assignments via email or a course management system drop box may also be required. If the course has a lab component, completion of lab assignments may require attendance onsite at LCC or other facilities.

5. Describe the availability of related services such as labs, library, research, and supplemental information.

Students have access to library research materials via the web, including Kentucky Virtual Library databases and other library databases. Students have access to traditional print research materials in local public libraries and via interlibrary loan.

6. For web courses: Describe how ADA compliance has been assessed to ensure accessibility of course content for students with disabilities.

The course will be screened for ADA compliance using the accessibility guidelines and/or tools at LCC's Wider World Web site. Screening will take place before the course is listed in the printed or online schedule of classes.

7. Describe how appropriate levels of faculty-student and student-student interaction will be achieved.

Students may interact with the instructor via e-mail, telephone, fax, and student-faculty threaded discussions. Students may interact with each other via e-mail, telephone, fax, threaded discussions and web-based chat. Participation in threaded discussions may be required.

8. Describe any technical requirements for remote sites (ITV, computer hardware/software, and special equipment).

Technical requirements for web server space and the course management system are met. Specific technical requirements for students accessing the Kentucky Virtual University may be found at their web site. If needed, requirements for completion of lab assignments will be listed in the course syllabus.
