ROBERT EGGER
Revealing the Power of Food

For over 25 years, Robert Egger has been exploring ways in which food can empower and uplift people, while also stimulating conversation about inclusion and opportunity. Robert is a proven leader, a dynamic speaker, an enthusiastic innovator and a man on a mission to challenge the way we view community. From Washington DC, where he founded the DC Central Kitchen, to his new work in Los Angeles, Robert creates street level solutions that will inspire and challenge you.

5:30 p.m.
Lyric Theatre Community Room, 300 E. Third Street

WHOSE FARM TO WHOSE TABLE?
The challenge of enhancing access to local food

Panel discussion featuring:
• Jim Embry, Founder: Sustainable Communities Network
• Karyn Moskowitz, Director: New Roots, Inc. & Fresh Stop Project, Louisville
• Mac Stone: Elmwood Stock Farm
• Ashton Potter Wright, Local Food Coordinator: Lexington-Fayette County Urban Government

Moderator
Rona Roberts, Host of Savoring Kentucky

5:30 p.m.
Lyric Theatre Community Room, 300 E. Third Street

THINKING BIG
Local Food & Large Institutions

Panel Discussion
• Sarah Fritschner, Coordinator: Louisville Farm to Table
• John-Mark Hack, Executive Director: Local Food Association
• Lee Meyer, Professor: UK College of Agriculture, Food, & Environment
• Tony Parnigoni, Region Vice President: Aramark Corporation

Moderator
Scott Smith, Faculty Director, The Food Connection at UK

5:30 p.m. / W.T. Young Library Auditorium
Followed by reception featuring Kentucky Proud food & local ingredients