Enjoyable Visual Arts Activities for Individuals with Dementia & Caregivers

Researchers with the University of Kentucky School of Art and Visual Studies are conducting a study on the impact of visual arts activities on the well-being of individuals with dementia and their caregivers.

If you are an individual with dementia, you may be able to participate if you:
• Are male/female, any racial/ethnic group;
• Are currently living at home;
• Have intact vision/hearing;
• And have mild to moderate dementia.

If you are a caregiver, you may be able to participate if you:
• Are male/female, any racial/ethnic group;
• Are a caregiver for the participant with dementia & have 10 or more hours of contact per week with them;
• And are available to accompany the individual with dementia to the visual arts activities and assist them when necessary.

Co-Research Investigators for this study are Allan G. Richards, Ed.D. and Ann Christianson-Tietyen, M.A.

For more information, Please contact:
Dr. Richards (859) 361-1483 or Ann Christianson-Tietyen (859) 312-4553