

The University of Kentucky Communication Sciences and Disorders Clinic is excited to offer Speech and Language Summer Clinics for children ages 3-8. These three-week clinics are supervised by a licensed Speech-Language Pathologist and conducted by a team of graduate students enrolled in the UK Communication Sciences and Disorders Master's Program.

These clinics are designed for children with mild to moderate articulation, phonological, and language delays or deficits and will provide enrichment and maintenance of speech and language skills. Each week will incorporate a theme to target various skills, including building vocabulary, grammatical concepts, literacy skills, and phonological processes. Additionally, each session will provide children with both group and individual activities. This is a great way for your child to stay on track with their speech and language skills, interact with other children, and continue to work toward their goals! Please complete the registration form at the bottom and return it to the clinic.
