THE VJI JEGANATHAN SCHOLARSHIP FOR CROSS-CULTURAL UNDERSTANDING

Description

This is an endowed $1,000 scholarship in memory of an outstanding international student, Viji Jeganathan. The purpose of the scholarship is to recognize an individual who demonstrates leadership and ability in bridging cultural differences and who by example promotes communication among students of diverse nationalities at UK or in the Lexington Community.

Eligibility

Applicants must be international or American students who:

- Are currently enrolled juniors, seniors or graduate students who have completed at least three semesters at UK.
- Have a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.8 (undergraduates) or 3.3 (graduate students).
- Regularly participate in UKIC programs or campus or community activities that promote international awareness and understanding.
- Demonstrate leadership ability by example.
- Demonstrate exemplary character and integrity.
- Have not received this scholarship before.

Selection Process

A committee of UK faculty and staff will review the applications and select recipients by April.

One candidate will be selected to receive the award, or, in the event of a tie, the $1,000 award will be divided between two candidates.

Application Deadline: April 3, 2017

To apply, please submit:

1. Unofficial transcript from myUK.

2. Two signed letters of recommendation from either two UK faculty members or one faculty and one staff member who can comment on your role and leadership in promoting cross-cultural understanding. These letters should be in a sealed, signed envelope.

3. Essay (500 words) discussing your own experiences with cultural or ethnic differences. Talk about the means you have used to overcome barriers between people or ways you have helped others to bridge differences that divide people.

Submit with the application form, all supporting documents (transcripts, letters of recommendation, and a typed essay) to: 216 Bradley Hall before the deadline, Monday, April 3, 2017.
