Questions & Answers

Q. Where can I find the visa types for foreign scholars and the rights and limitations of each?
A. The information may be found on the Immigration Services Web site and the visa types are also listed in the University of Kentucky Business Procedure E-7-7 attachment A.

Most foreign scholars and researchers enter the United States with a J-1 visa, allowing them to teach or conduct research while on campus. Most other visa types limit the nature and locations of work that can be performed by the visitor. As general rule, visa types F, H, J, M or Q will be eligible for payment for services (visiting speaker fees or independent contractor services), an honorarium, and/or expense reimbursement; but visa type B only allows for payment of an honorarium and reimbursement of expenses. Other limitations also exist for visa type B. For example, the person cannot have been paid by more than five (5) other institutions within the previous six (6) month period. If a visitor’s visa permits her/him to receive payment of fees and/or expenses, departments may extend an offer to do so. Departments are encouraged to write a “letter of invitation” documenting the conditions and terms of the invitation. If a visitor’s visa or other circumstances do not permit payment, departments should not make a promise or a commitment to pay any fees or expenses.

Q. Are payments to an NRA subject to federal and state tax withholdings?
A. Yes, all payments to NRA's are subject to federal withholdings of 30% and state withholdings of 6%. However, an NRA may be eligible for exemption or reduced withholdings under a tax treaty between the United States and their country of residence. Also, any payment made to them will be subject to withholding for both federal and state taxes of 30% and 6% respectively. Additional information regarding tax withholdings for an NRA can be found on the Internal Revenue Service Web site.

Q. What are the options if an NRA does not qualify for a Social Security Number?
A. If an NRA does not qualify for a Social Security Number, there is an opportunity to apply for an Individual Tax Identification Number. The application for an Individual Tax Identification Number can be found at the US Immigration Support Web site.

Q. Why must the University delay payment to an NRA that seeks entitlement to tax treaty benefits by completing an IRS Form 8233?
A. The IRS requires that the University submit the IRS Form 8233 for approval, and they impose a mandatory delay of ten (10) business days before the payment may be made.

Q. What is the process for requesting a payment for an NRA?
A. Non-employee payments are made by Departmental Authorization Voucher (DAV) through the Accounts Payable Department. Detailed procedures for completing the DAV are in Business Procedure E-7-7.

Q. What are the documentation requirements for a payment for an NRA?
A. Documentation requirements vary with the type of payment that may be made to a NRA. Listed on the back of this brochure, by payment type, is the documentation that must accompany the DAV for each payment when it is submitted to Accounts Payable.

Each year, many distinguished scholars and experts are invited to the University of Kentucky to lecture, collaborate on research or participate in some type of activity for which payment has been agreed upon or an honorarium is customary.
