Dartmouth College, one of the nation’s premier Ivy League research universities, announces a national search for the founding Director of the Dartmouth Wellness Center (Director). With the support of the President and the campus community, the College has made a strong commitment and begun to work towards strengthening and renewing student wellness at Dartmouth, including creation of the Wellness Center. This is an exciting opportunity for the first Director to lead and oversee a multi-disciplinary team of health professionals focused on facilitating student wellness as a core institutional value through a holistic approach. Dartmouth seeks a visionary, experienced, and collaborative leader to launch the Initiative and direct the Wellness Center.

Position Summary

Reporting to the Associate Dean of the College, the Director serves as point on the development of a comprehensive Wellness initiative that supports the divisional strategic priorities and is grounded in a collaborative and interdisciplinary approach. The Director will ensure that Dartmouth is on the cutting edge of effective health and wellness education, harm-reduction initiatives, and prevention and intervention strategies for college student populations, with particular attention to high-risk areas such as alcohol and other drugs, sexual behavior, and eating disorders; this position oversees a comprehensive institutional effort to mobilize the entire Dartmouth community to address and prevent violence, particularly sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking.

Requirements

The position requires a master's degree, and a doctorate is strongly preferred, in a health related field, such as public health, clinical evaluative science, medical informatics, human services, health education, health promotion, applied psychology or other fields related to health. Candidates must have at least five years of experience in post-graduate and progressively responsible experience in campus Wellness program delivery and oversight, or the equivalent combination of education and experience with college-age populations; demonstrated success in project management involving complex scheduling and communications; prior participation in writing research papers and/or professional presentations is preferred; Familiarity with CPHS and HIPAA approvals is preferred; and prior experience handling confidential materials.

The selected candidate will be an experienced and proven leader, thinker, and manager with demonstrated ability and effectiveness in creating, developing, implementing, and assessing effective and contextually appropriate health promotion programs and interventions. The Director must be able to foster effective partnerships with colleagues and stakeholders across campus and in the community, serving as the primary point of contact for all inquiries related to Dartmouth's wellness, harm reduction, and violence prevention efforts.
