The University of Kentucky EcoRep Program
A Partnership between Residence Life and the Office of Sustainability

Living on campus next year? Interested in Sustainability? Become an EcoRep!

The EcoRep program is a student-driven, peer-to-peer education and outreach program designed to empower passionate student leaders to promote sustainability in their halls and around campus. Becoming an EcoRep will get you plugged into the efforts of UK’s Office of Sustainability, prepare you to provide fellow students with info about programs and opportunities, and is a great way to meet other students who are interested in sustainability. You can also receive course credit for being an EcoRep!

Additional benefits of being an EcoRep include marketable life skills:

- Ability to learn how to communicate complex subjects to a general audience.
- Provide leadership to fellow students.
- Learn how to network with organizations, faculty, and students.
- Learn the ability to work well in teams.
- Learn how to coordinate with a variety of organizations and people.
- Learn how to plan events/activities.
- Practice time management.
- Gain an understanding of how UK makes its decisions, creates policy, and allocates funding.

To sign up or if you have questions:

Contact Mariah Lewis, Student Programming Coordinator for the Office of Sustainability, at lewism0710@gmail.com.

“We cannot hope to create a sustainable culture with any but sustainable souls”

-Derrick Jensen, Endgame Vol. 1: The Problem of Civilization