<td>Ashley and Ruth Mixson Psychology Award</td>
<td>Recognize a graduate students research and provide resources to continue the work.</td>
<td>Each year, graduate students can submit proposals (one page of text, one page of budget) for support of a research enterprise. Funds could go to paying research participants, purchasing needed lab materials, software, or other research expenses. A committee of three faculty will review the proposals and select the winner of the Ashley and Ruth Mixson Psychology Award. The criteria for selection will be: (1) there is a clear need for the funds that cannot be met in another way; (2) priority will be given to proposals addressing clinical and/or child psychology; (3) the merit of the research proposal. At the Psychology Awards Day, the recipient will be recognized and receive a plaque in addition to the research support funds.</td>

Kentucky Diversity Film Festival Student Submission Award
The Kentucky Diversity Film Festival (KYDFF) will feature professionally-made documentaries that highlight the rich diversity in our Commonwealth. In addition, the festival will screen several student films that also speak to diversity in some way. Students will submit short films (20 minutes or less) that they have created, and the Diversity and Inclusion Committee of the College of Communication and Information will evaluate the student films, choosing three for awards: first, second, and third place.
The awards will serve to a) motivate the students to create and submit films that address diversity and b) reward students for successful films. Overall, the purpose of this process is to celebrate diversity and inclusion on the University campus and across the Commonwealth
Students' films will be evaluated in five areas: topicality, cinematography and audio, originality, editing, and overall quality. Films will be rated in each area. The films with the highest scores will win the competition.

International Center
UK Confucius Institute
American Marketing Association Design

The AMA-UKCI Case Competition brings together students from the American Marketing Association and gives them a real-world application of skills, devising marketing plans to fit the needs of various (UKC) programs. Through the process, students also learn more about what the IKC does and the purpose it serves, inviting students to try more of its programs.

To acknowledge the winner of the competition, as decided on by a panel of UK officials.

Notes:
- The awards are structured to recognize academic excellence, involvement in the program, community service, and the primary peer supporter/leader of that class.
- The awards are also designed to support the research and academic pursuits of the recipients.
- The total amount of $3,000 is distributed across various categories to ensure a comprehensive support system for the students.
- The awards are intended to encourage students to pursue further academic and research endeavors.

Conclusion:
The combination of these awards aims to provide comprehensive support to undergraduate students, recognizing their academic achievements and encouraging further academic and research endeavors. The structure of the awards ensures a balance between financial support and recognition, promoting a holistic approach to student development.
