

What Your Support Can Do

- Provide direct psychiatric/mental health research experiences to nursing students.
- Offer opportunities to present scholarly study research findings to peers and professionals in the field.
- Lead to extended clinical and/or practical experiences with psychiatric/mental health professionals and patients.

Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing
Okoli Research Support
September 2017 Student Spotlight

“My interest in mental health and psych nursing began with an interest in neuroscience, particularly in the physiology underlying neurological diseases and disorders. I discovered a passion for research that serves as a foundation for developing evidence-based treatments. I want to both interact with patients in a compassionate capacity and contribute towards research.”

Meet Sarret Seng

Born and raised in Long Beach, CA, Mrs. Seng came to Lexington and is currently in UK’s Second-Career BSN program. She holds a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology from California State University of Long Beach where she was the Outstanding Graduate for the College of Liberal Arts. She has completed research internships in addiction and psychiatric disorders.

Research

Mrs. Seng will use her research internship to combine clinical care with academic advancements through research that positively impacts care. She believes Dr. Okoli’s mentorship, in both research and scholarly study, will prepare her for future work in psychiatric treatment practices and programs.

Thank You To Our Supporters

The Okoli Research Support Fund and its generous donors have made possible $1,500 of travel support for Mrs. Seng to present her student research professionally. Thank you!

MENTOR:

Chizimuzo T.C. Okoli, PhD, RN
Assistant Professor and Director,
Tobacco Treatment &
Prevention Program
Director, Tobacco Treatment Services &
Evidence-based Practice