STUDENT AGREEMENT

I represent that my Honors Thesis and abstract are my original work. Proper attribution has been given to all outside sources. I understand that I am solely responsible for obtaining any needed copyright permissions. I have obtained and attached hereto needed written permission statements(s) from the owner(s) of each third-party copyrighted matter to be included in my work, allowing electronic distribution (if such use is not permitted by the fair use doctrine).

I hereby grant to The University of Kentucky and its agents the non-exclusive license to archive and make accessible my work in whole or in part in all forms of media, now or hereafter known. I agree that the document mentioned above may be made available immediately for worldwide access unless a preapproved embargo applies.

I retain all other ownership rights to the copyright of my work. I also retain the right to use in future works (such as articles or books) all or part of my work. I understand that I am free to register the copyright to my work.

NOTE: Explanations of some terms in the agreement are found on the next page.

DOCUMENT REVIEW AND APPROVAL

My signature below indicates that my Honors Thesis has been reviewed and approved by my faculty advisor, and I verify that it is the final approved version.

What is a third-party copyrighted matter?

A third-party copyrighted matter is an original work (e.g., writing, music, drawing, etc.) whose copyright is owned by somebody or an entity other than you and the university. If you include this kind of material in your project, you may have to seek permission from the copyright holder.

What is the fair use doctrine?

The fair use doctrine is part of the U.S. copyright law that makes it acceptable “to use limited portions of a work including quotes, for purposes such as commentary, criticism, news reporting, and scholarly reports” without the copyright holder’s permission. See this page for details:

<http://www.copyright.gov/fls/fl102.html>.

What is a non-exclusive license?

A non-exclusive license is the permission granted by a copyright holder(s) for using his/her/their work (e.g., a song, a short story, a patented invention, etc.). The non-exclusivity enables the copyright holder to grant the same permission to someone else. The university has to receive a non-exclusive license from you before we can post your project online for free public access. You are free to grant the same non-exclusive license to other people or entities.

What is a preapproved embargo?

A preapproved embargo is a faculty-imposed delay in providing access to your project for a legitimate reason. The delay can be 6 months, 1 year, or 2 years from the project completion date.

How can I register the copyright to my work?

You can register the copyright to your work through the U.S. Copyright Office online system: <http://www.copyright.gov/eco/>. There is a filing fee for the registration.
