The product of many voices and many centuries, the Bible offers us historic snapshots of the ideas and values of the Ancient Near East. It also presents intriguing puzzles: when and where were the books of the Bible written, and how did they come to be included in a single book. In this course we will also look at the manuscript trail that transmitted the parts of the Bible across the centuries and trace the Bible's history from the original languages into twenty-first century English.

The course topics include:
• What is the Bible?
• Threads and traditions
• From oral to written
• The formation of the Canon
• Bible manuscript traditions
• Biblical languages and the Bible in translation

Dates and Times: Mondays, October 4 - November 8, 10 – 11:15 a.m.

We understand the New Testament better if we know the history behind it -- how the Romans ruled and what early Jews believed; if we know the history of it -- why four gospels instead of one, and why they included so many letters; if we know the history immediately after the New Testament -- how the earliest Christians used these writings to work out what they came to believe; and finally, how and when they separated from Judaism.

The course topics include:
• Background:
  o The Dead Sea Scrolls
  o Roman Rule in Palestine
  o First-Century Jewish Culture and Beliefs.
• Authors of New Testament Books and Purpose in Writing
  o Paul’s Life and Letters
  o Four Gospels -- Sources and Relationships.
• The Earliest Christians
  o Judaism and Christianity Separate o Persecution
  o First-Century Christian Beliefs.

Understanding the Constitution of the United States (Hybrid)

• To discover who created the US Constitution and why.
• To understand some on-going problems with constitutional interpretation.
• To define the doctrines of sovereignty and the separation of powers.
