

AHP 840 ETHICS IN HEALTH PRACTICE.

(2)

A study of selected ethical issues that arise in the practice of health professionals. The health professional's obligations to patients, colleagues, employing institutions, and the community will be considered, and relevant case studies will be analyzed.