Community Healing

The Center for Healing Racial Trauma, led by Dr. Candace Hargons, offers services and trainings designed to heal racially/ethnically marginalized people from racism.

The Neighborhood Healers Project, led by UK researchers, aims to reduce the mental health equity gap by addressing the stigma and helping Black Lexingtonians access the mental health services they need.

It has created a support system of “first-responders” within Lexington’s Black community who are trained to recognize the signs and symptoms of mental health crises and connect people to needed resources.
