Members, Board of Trustees:

NAMING OF UK CENTER ON POULTRY RESEARCH AND INNOVATION

Recommendation: that the Board of Trustees approve the naming of an office building in the College of Agriculture, Food and Environment's new poultry complex, the "Alltech – UK Center on Poultry Research and Innovation".

Background: As part of its long-term commitment to the University of Kentucky, Alltech, Inc. has committed $2,000,000 in support for an office building to advance teaching, research and training to support Kentucky's multi-billion-dollar poultry industry. The office building will be located near the poultry complex on the college's C. Oran Little Research Center farm in Versailles, Kentucky.

Alltech, Inc. is a Kentucky-based, global leader in agriculture innovation dedicated to improving the health and performance of people, animals and plants through nutrition and science. They are a long-term partner with the College of Agriculture, Food and Environment, and maintain a productive and collaborative relationship in addressing animal nutrition issues, especially in the poultry industry.

The Advisory Committee on Naming University Property has reviewed this request and found it to be in compliance with Administrative Regulation 9:5 and recommends approval of this name designation.
