1. How does this course provide for timely and appropriate interaction between students and faculty and among students? Does the course syllabus conform to University Senate Syllabus Guidelines, specifically the Distance Learning Considerations?

2. How do you ensure that the experience for a DL student is comparable to that of a classroom-based student's experience? Aspects to explore: textbooks, course goals, assessment of student learning outcomes, etc.

3. How is the integrity of student work ensured? Please speak to aspects such as password-protected course portals, proctors for exams at interactive video sites; academic offense policy; etc.

4. Will offering this course via DL result in at least 25% or at least 50% (based on total credit hours required for completion) of a degree program being offered via any form of DL, as defined above?

If yes, which percentage, and which program(s)?

5. How are students taking the course via DL assured of equivalent access to student services, similar to that of a student taking the class in a traditional classroom setting?

6. How do course requirements ensure that students make appropriate use of learning resources?

7. Please explain specifically how access is provided to laboratories, facilities, and equipment appropriate to the course or program.

8. How are students informed of procedures for resolving technical complaints? Does the syllabus list the entities available to offer technical help with the delivery and/or receipt of the course, such as the Information Technology Customer Service Center (http://www.uky.edu/UKIT)?

9. Will the course be delivered via services available through the Distance Learning Program (DLP) and the Academic Technology Group (ATL)? NO

If no, explain how student enrolled in DL courses are able to use the technology employed, as well as how students will be provided with assistance in using said technology.

10. Does the syllabus contain all the required components? NO

11. I, the instructor of record, have read and understood all of the university-level statements regarding DL.

Overview
“The Program philosophy is guided by three concepts: the scientist-practitioner model of training and practice, a systems perspective of person-environment interaction and interdependence, and a community perspective that values and promotes social justice” (UK Doctoral Student Handbook)

Course Description
This course focuses on theoretically grounded social justice consultation and evaluation in counseling psychology. The purpose of this course is to help students develop beginning competencies in social justice consultation, advocacy, and program evaluation as counseling psychologists. Doctoral students in counseling psychology will practice beginning skills in interprofessional collaboration and community partnership.

Prerequisites
This is an advanced course for doctoral students in counseling psychology. Students are eligible to enroll if they have successfully completed the first year of the doctoral program.

Student Learning Objectives
1. Doctoral Students will demonstrate awareness of social, political, economic and cultural factors that impact individuals and at least one theory that provides a framework for systemic change efforts (Goal 1.1a)
2. Doctoral students will develop an understanding of institutional/community-level interventions consistent with their theory of systemic change. (Goal 2.3d)
3. Doctoral Students will develop knowledge and skills in collaborating with an agency/community to identify and address a specific systemic-level need. (Goal 2.4a)
4. Doctoral Students will develop skills in designing and evaluating an intervention to address the needs of a community/agency. (Goal 2.1e, 2.4d)
5. Doctoral Students will conceptualize and practice ways to empower communities/institutions to achieve their social justice-related goals and to educate/raise awareness as an advocate for the community/group with whom they are working. (Goal 3.1d, 3.2a)

Required Texts, Readings, and Materials

Course Assignments and Learning Activities

1. Students are expected to devote four to six hours each week working with a marginalized community or a community-based agency to complete course requirements. Progress notes are due each week using the format provided. (10 points)

2. Theory and Background Paper (25 points)
   - What is your theory of social justice and how does it apply to the community/agency with whom you are collaborating?
   - What are the systemic forces and social policies that have led to and perpetuated the social issue/problem on which you are collaborating/consulting?
   - What is the history of interventions or social movements related to this social issue? What is the evidence of the effectiveness of these interventions?
   - What systemic changes are needed to create a more socially just world for your community? What changes can the community be empowered to make on its own behalf?

3. Needs Assessment and Intervention Plan (25 points)
   - Conduct a needs assessment in collaboration with your community/agency that will further its social justice mission and that targets some level of the system. Your report should include data/evidence collected in collaboration with the community/agency.
   - Develop an intervention plan that builds on your developing knowledge of social justice theory (as delineated in your major paper above), the social context of the community, and the specific needs of your community/agency. Your intervention plan should include an empowerment component.
   - Develop a plan for evaluating the effectiveness of your intervention.
   - Present your theory, background, needs assessment, intervention, and evaluation plan to a community collaborator (agency supervisor, community member) and make revisions.
4. Professional presentation (10 points)
Present your work to the class. Start with a discussion of what you have learned about the history and lived experiences of the community/agency. Provide a recommended resource page for your colleagues to learn more (reading, film, websites). End your Powerpoint presentation with: (1) a list of recommended resources for learning more and (1) a list of recommendations that you would give a colleague who was going to carry on your work.

5. Critical Self-reflection papers. (5 points each for total of 30). The purpose of these short essays are to help you critically engage the readings and apply them to your own professional experiences and development as a social justice consultant/advocate. End your reflection with one burning question that you want to discuss in class. Late self-reflections will not be accepted.

Grading
Grading scale for graduate students (no D for Grad Students):
90-100% = A
80 – 89% = B
70 – 79% = C

*Late papers/presentations will be penalized 10% at the beginning of the class period and another 10% for each 24 hours following.

Attendance Policy and Excused Absences

You are expected to attend every class and be prepared to contribute substantially to the learning community. More than one absence (excused or unexcused) will result in a deduction of 10 points from the final grade. More than two absences will result in the student being asked to withdraw from the course.

Students need to notify the professor of absences prior to class when possible. Senate Rules 5.2.4.2 defines the following as acceptable reasons for excused absences: (a) serious illness, (b) illness or death of family member, (c) University-related trips, (d) major religious holidays, and (e) other circumstances found to fit “reasonable cause for nonattendance” by the professor.

Students anticipating an absence for a major religious holiday are responsible for notifying the instructor in writing of anticipated absences due to their observance of such holidays no later than the last day in the semester to add a class. Two weeks prior to the absence is reasonable, but should not be given any later. Information regarding major religious holidays may be obtained through the Ombud (859-257-3737, http://www.uky.edu/Ombud/ForStudents_ExcusedAbsences.php.

Students are expected to withdraw from the class if more than 20% of the classes scheduled for the semester are missed (excused) per University policy.

Per Senate Rule 5.2.4.2, students missing any graded work due to an excused absence are responsible: for informing the Instructor of Record about their excused absence within one week following the period of the excused absence (except where prior notification is required); and for making up the missed work. The professor must give the student an opportunity to make up the work and/or the exams missed due to an excused absence; and shall do so, if feasible, during the semester in which the absence occurred.
Verification of Absences
Students may be asked to verify their absences in order for them to be considered excused. Senate Rule 5.2.4.2 states that faculty have the right to request “appropriate verification” when students claim an excused absence because of illness, or death in the family. Appropriate notification of absences due to University-related trips is required prior to the absence when feasible and in no case more than one week after the absence.

Academic Integrity
Per University policy, students shall not plagiarize, cheat, or falsify or misuse academic records. Students are expected to adhere to University policy on cheating and plagiarism in all courses. The minimum penalty for a first offense is a zero on the assignment on which the offense occurred. If the offense is considered severe or the student has other academic offenses on their record, more serious penalties, up to suspension from the University may be imposed.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious breaches of academic conduct. Each student is advised to become familiar with the various forms of academic dishonesty as explained in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Complete information can be found at the following website: http://www.uky.edu/Ombud. A plea of ignorance is not acceptable as a defense against the charge of academic dishonesty. It is important that you review this information as all ideas borrowed from others need to be properly credited.

Senate Rules 6.3.1 (see http://www.uky.edu/Faculty/Senate/) for the current set of Senate Rules) states that all academic work, written or otherwise, submitted by students to their instructors or other academic supervisors, is expected to be the result of their own thought, research, or self-expression. In cases where students feel unsure about a question of plagiarism involving their work, they are obliged to consult their instructors on the matter before submission.

When students submit work purporting to be their own, but which in any way borrows ideas, organization, wording, or content from another source without appropriate acknowledgment of the fact, the students are guilty of plagiarism.

Plagiarism includes reproducing someone else’s work (including, but not limited to a published article, a book, a website, computer code, or a paper from a friend) without clear attribution. Plagiarism also includes the practice of employing or allowing another person to alter or revise the work, which a student submits as his/her own, whoever that other person may be. Students may discuss assignments among themselves or with an instructor or tutor, but when the actual work is done, it must be done by the student, and the student alone.

When a student’s assignment involves research in outside sources or information, the student must carefully acknowledge exactly what, where and how he/she has employed them. If the words of someone else are used, the student must put quotation marks around the passage in question and add an appropriate indication of its origin. Making simple changes while leaving the organization, content, and phraseology intact is plagiaristic. However, nothing in these Rules shall apply to those ideas, which are so generally and freely circulated as to be a part of the public domain.

Please note: Any assignment you turn in may be submitted to an electronic database to check for plagiarism.

Accommodations due to disability (boilerplate)
If you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please see me as soon as possible during scheduled office hours. In order to receive accommodations in this course, you must provide me with a Letter of Accommodation from the Disability Resource Center (DRC). The DRC coordinates campus disability services available to students with disabilities. It is located on the corner of Rose Street and Huguelet Drive in the Multidisciplinary Science Building, Suite 407. You can reach them via phone at (859) 257-2754 and via email at drc@uky.edu. Their web address is http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/DisabilityResourceCenter/.
