1. How does this course provide for timely and appropriate interaction between students and faculty and among students? Does the course syllabus conform to University Senate Syllabus Guidelines, specifically the Distance Learning Considerations?

2. How do you ensure that the experience for a DL student is comparable to that of a classroom-based student’s experience? Aspects to explore: textbooks, course goals, assessment of student learning outcomes, etc.

3. How is the integrity of student work ensured? Please speak to aspects such as password-protected course portals, proctors for exams at interactive video sites; academic offense policy; etc.

4. Will offering this course via DL result in at least 25% or at least 50% (based on total credit hours required for completion) of a degree program being offered via any form of DL, as defined above?

If yes, which percentage, and which program(s)?

5. How are students taking the course via DL assured of equivalent access to student services, similar to that of a student taking the class in a traditional classroom setting?

6. How do course requirements ensure that students make appropriate use of learning resources?

7. Please explain specifically how access is provided to laboratories, facilities, and equipment appropriate to the course or program.

8. How are students informed of procedures for resolving technical complaints? Does the syllabus list the entities available to offer technical help with the delivery and/or receipt of the course, such as the Information Technology Customer Service Center (http://www.uky.edu/UKIT)?

9. Will the course be delivered via services available through the Distance Learning Program (DLP) and the Academic Technology Group (ATL)? NO

   If no, explain how student enrolled in DL courses are able to use the technology employed, as well as how students will be provided with assistance in using said technology.

10. Does the syllabus contain all the required components? NO

11. I, the instructor of record, have read and understood all of the university-level statements regarding DL.

Required Readings (To be purchased and read by all students)

“Research and Reflection for Learning and Leading” is the theme of the College of Education’s conceptual framework. This statement summarizes how the College and this course approach the preparation of professional educators, exercise scientists, and sports professionals. The skills and teaching methods you will learn in this course have been developed through research in the areas of pedagogy, motor learning, motor development and biomechanics, and thus are research-based. It is important that teachers and science professionals choose research-based strategies when preparing evaluation techniques. During this course, reflection will also be emphasized. You will be expected to reflect on what you have learned through the development of an evaluation process within kinesiology and health promotion. As in all areas of education, learning is an important component of this course. Leading is an expectation of both faculty and students. This course will assist you in developing leadership qualities within individual and group projects.

Course Description
The influence of diversity on organizations has been critical in redefining policy, practices, procedures, and key stakeholder interests. This course offers an examination of the increasingly prominent diversity-related issues in sport organizations. With references to policy, theoretical frameworks, and a growing body of social science literature, students will explore such issues as, but are not limited to, race/ethnicity, gender, religion, sexual orientation, and disability and the various challenges that have emerged in sport organizations. These information exchanges will ultimately lead us to consider the role of key sport leaders and their strategies (or lack thereof) to promote and effectively maximize the benefits of a diverse workforce.

Learning Outcomes and Specific Indicators:
A. Understand diversity and diversity management.
B. Describe various forms of diversity.
C. Broaden students’ perspectives of diversity and the impact on sports.

Objectives: Each of the following course objectives will be met through class lectures, classroom discussions, outside reading assignments, critical thinking questions and class presentations.

At the end of this course students will be able to demonstrate the following competencies:
B. The ability to define diversity and diversity management.
C. Analyze why diversity warrants attention by students and managers.
D. The ability to discuss and present information on various forms of diversity including race, sex, gender, age, mental and physical ability, religious beliefs, sexual orientation, and social class.
Course Structure

This course assumes that each member of the class is a valuable resource. The instructor and students are both teachers and learners, who collectively make this course meaningful. We are equally responsible to contribute to the pool of knowledge.

An underlying assumption in this course is that learning is not a mere transmission of knowledge. It is a process of constructing meaningful experiences within a political community of learners. Meaningfulness is personal and depends on the amount of participation and willingness to take a risk. Therefore, there is a degree of ambiguity in this course as students discover personal connections to the curriculum.

Cell phones must be turned off and should not be visible during class.

Course Requirements

Class Participation

All students are expected to attend class regularly and enter fully in class discussions. As such, students should be prepared to, actively, participate in both class discussions and online platforms, by critically analyzing, posing questions, and/or making observations about the assigned readings and lecture materials.

Grading:

To encourage thoughtful reflection of course materials and commitment to course objectives, you will be assessed on your ability to master course requirements. Specifically, you are required to do each of the following:

1.) Facilitator/Participation- 25%
2.) Biographical Abstract– 15%
3.) Power point Presentation 10%
4.) Critical Reflection Exercise – 20%
5.) Mid-term Exam – 15%
6.) Final 15%

NOTE: The instructor retains the right to make changes, additions or deletions to the syllabus during the course of the semester

Weekly Facilitator(s)

Students will be required to facilitate the discussion of at least one set of weekly assigned readings. The exercise provides weekly facilitators the opportunity to learn to teach through teaching. Special focus will be on

(1) introduction and transition;
(2) pacing
(3) voice
(4) observations made about the assigned readings

In addition, facilitators should ask the class several thought-provoking questions that will force them to think critically about the issues presented in the assigned readings.

Your goal is to, actively, engage the class; however, you are able to do it! Please note that weekly facilitators should also plan to distribute a handout related to the assigned reading(s).
Biographical Study (Biography)
Students will conduct a biographical study of an athlete in sports of a different gender, linguistic or racial/ethnic background than themselves. The more blatantly disparate you are from the athlete, the better. The case study exercise seeks to develop the student as a critical researcher. This methodological approach will allow KHP 781 students to explore the extent to which issues such as race/ethnicity, culture, gender, language, social class, religion among other diversity-related issues affect the athletes’ access and opportunities (or life chances) in society. Additionally, this exercise, in part, provides a framework to help students process, interpret, and apply useful qualitative information to athletes within an organization. The biographical study is a culminating exercise and will enable students to present their understanding of cultural diversity during the final three class sessions.

Please note that this exercise is not intended to be a summary of the athletes’ life history, but instead you should consider the following points to guide your biography:

(a) To what extent do race/ethnicity, culture, gender, social class, sexual orientation, religion, and/or language manifest themselves in the athlete’s life within and outside the organizational context?
(b) Do ‘cultural conflicts’ exist with their organization(s)? If so, in what ways?
(c) What are the social, cultural, and community contexts for the athlete beyond the boundaries of the organization?
(d) How do structural inequalities, if any, manifest themselves in the athlete’s opportunities, experiences, and expectations?
(e) What did you not understand, if anything, about the athlete’s journey? Why did you not understand it?

Abstract Guidelines for Biography (Due: October 29th)
(1) Cover page
   * Name of the sports leader
   * Your name

(2) Abstracts should be a maximum of 400 words, 12-point Times New Roman font, double-spaced.

(3) Abstracts should include:
   (a) Background information
      - Any appropriate literature that relates to the athlete.
   (b) Significance or rationale for the study of this athlete
      - the reason that you want to research this athlete.
   (c) Statement of the problem/purpose of the study
      - This section describes the question (s) being asked.
   (d) Theoretical tenets of diversity
      - describe the primary theory of diversity that best fits your athlete’s experiences.
   (e) Summary of the findings that provides a clear description of the results and discussion of their relevance
      - Discuss the results in light of the questions you are asking.
      - Incorporate any related literature to support your findings.

Power point Presentation
Power point presentations will be graded based upon
(1) quality and depth of reflection, (2) appropriate use of course concepts, and (3) overall creativity.
Presentation Guidelines
1. Submit a hard copy of power to professor on the day of presentation

2. The paper should take the following form:

A. Title Slide [5-pts]

B. Table of Contents Slide [5-pts]

C. Introduction Slide [20-pts]
   • Gain the audience attention and interest
     ✓ Begin with a question, an unusual example or statistic, or a short, relevant story.
   • Put yourself in the speech
     ✓ Demonstrate your expertise, experience, or concern to gain the interest and trust of your audience.
   • Introduce and preview your topic and purpose.
     ✓ By the time your introduction is over, listeners should know what your subject is and the direction you’ll take to develop your ideas.

D. Body/Discussion Slide(s) [20-pts]
   • Make sure the organization of your presentation is clear through the use of transitions.
     ✓ You can number each point (first, second, third, and so on)
     ✓ Describe the primary theory of diversity that best fits your athlete’s experiences.
     ✓ Provide internal summaries to remind your listeners where you have been and where you are going and offer comments to help your audience sense the weight of various points.
     ✓ You should use facts, statistics, examples, and expert opinions to support the main points of your oral presentation.
     ✓ In addition, you can make your points more memorable with vivid description, well-chosen quotations, true or fictional stories, and analogies.

E. Conclusion Slide(s) [20-pts]
   • You want your conclusion to be clear, but you also want it to be memorable
     ✓ Remind listeners of how your topic and main idea connect to their needs and interests.

F. References Slide(s) [10-pts]
   • A minimum of 5 references

G. Appearance/Dress [10-pts]
   • Appropriate attire for presentation (business casual)

H. Vocal Delivery [10-pts]
   • Speak loudly, clearly and confidently enough for your audience to understand you.
     ✓ Avoid reading for an entire presentation; speak from memory

I. Twenty-five (25-points) will be deducted from your individual score for absence on the date of your presentation.
Critical Reflection Exercise

Students are expected to have completed the week’s assigned readings prior to attending that class session and be prepared to comment critically. Students will be asked to analyze and synthesize information from the assigned readings while reflecting on their own lived experiences using personal examples, situations they observe in organizations and within their communities, and current events. Students will submit a two page, double-spaced analysis of the diversity challenge reflection questions located at the beginning of the following chapters; (Note the due dates).

GUIDELINES ON HOW TO PREPARE DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

A. Each two page, double-spaced paper MUST BE TYPED.

B. The paper should include a cover page with
   1. Your name
   2. Assignment # (number), chapter, and page # (number)
   3. Due date of assignment

C. Write the question and answer.

Academic Conduct

UK expects honesty and integrity from all members of its community. All acts of cheating on assignments or examinations, plagiarism, forgery of signature, or falsification of data will be dealt with appropriately. Students found guilty of any offense against academic honesty and integrity are subject to a failing grade in the course by the instructor.

Class Attendance Policy

Each student should note that class attendance is mandatory (unless otherwise stated by the instructor). Each student is expected to attend all classes unless a family emergency or illness is supported with documentation. Students who will miss classes due to University activities (e.g., trips for intercollegiate athletic participation, student organizations events sponsored by an educational unit, trips for University classes) must inform the instructor prior to occurrence of such absences. Unexcused absences, with the exception of the first absence, will result in the loss of 5 points off the final average grade for the class.

Please note that students employed full-time should inform their employer about the class attendance policy and class calendar. Students that determine their work commitments will cause excessive absences should not enroll in the course.

University Absentee Policy

It is the interpretation of the Senate Rules and Elections Committee that the clause in Senate Rule 5.2.4.2 ("trips for participation in intercollegiate athletic events") does not apply to students that are University employees of the Athletics Department or Campus Recreation Department who are not participating as team athletes in an intercollegiate athletic event during the missed class.

If attendance is required by the class policies elaborated in the syllabus or serves as a criterion for a grade in a course, and if a student has excused absences in excess of one-fifth of the class contact hours for that course, a student shall have the right to petition for a "W", and the Instructor of Record may require the student to petition for a "W" or take an "I" in the course.
